Pretty Lace Bonnets

THERE is no doubt now that hats (or rather bonnets) made of lace will be a leading feature in headwear for children during the coming spring. Already, those who create the styles for the public's acceptance, or rejection, have made many beautiful bonnets and bonnet-like hats, with such good success, that they will be sure to sell. They appeal to the mothers from the standpoint of beauty and utility, and more than all, from that of economy. The majority are made of narrow val lace and those of other laces as a rule will show good wearing qualities.

These pretty head coverings are made in nearly every case on a wire frame which is faced with shirred silk or chiffon. But sometimes the brim is made of lace. Ribbons in silk or velvet are used with them. Many small flowers, too, add to their beauty. They are set in prim and quaint fashion about the crowns, or in one or two little bouquets on the brim. Forget-me-nots, June roses, moss-rose buds, small daisies and blossoms of fruit trees remain the favored posies for little folks. Small field flowers look well with the heavier laces.

There is really a great amount of work on children's millinery, but it is not of the most difficult character. The pretty hats of lace shown here are not beyond the skill of the mother who makes her children's dresses. The wire frame must be bought from the millinery shop or the department store and covered with mull of silk before the lace and facing are put on. Finally the finished hat looks considerably larger than the frame.

Val and chiny laces are the favorites. Quite a number of novelty laces have been brought out, but are not more attractive than those we have had heretofore.

White and pale colors make up most of all the bonnets so that a choice of colors is easy enough. Very thin silks, chiffons and laces, are used for facings. Wide, soft ribbons or narrow velvet ribbons are chosen, with small flowers for trimming.

UTILIZING THE SOILED SHOE

Days of Usefulness May Be Extended If Article Is Not Too Far Gone.

Here are a couple of hints for the girl whose dress allowance has to go a long way:

White kid shoes which are too soiled to wear and which are still of a good shape may be renewed for evening wear by painting them with gold paint. Do this carefully and smoothly and the shoes will look like new.

In some cases even soiled satin slippers may be successfully treated in this way.

White kid shoes may also be dyed a fast black by applying the following mixture to them: Five cents' worth of gallic acid and five cents' worth of sulphate of iron.

Put the sulphate of iron in just as much water as is required to dissolve it, no more, and apply this to the shoes. Let it dry, then dissolve the gallic acid in a very little water and apply this. When dry the shoes should be a good black color. Great care must be taken in using these chemicals, and after they have been used the surplus quantity should be thrown away.

For the Wee One.

During the winter months a warm wrapper to slip over the baby when he is being taken from one room to another is a necessity. A very pretty one may be made of nun's veiling in pink or blue, with an underlining of thin wadding and batiste. The dainty little garment might be embroidered or scalloped round the edge and would prove a pretty present for baby and also a most useful one.

The wrapper should be large enough to slip on easily, for nothing jars a child's nerves more than to be forced into a coat that is too small, and if the wrap takes the form of cape it is equally necessary that it be large enough to envelop the little form when, as in this case, warmth is the object to be secured.

Dainty Lace Caps.

Lace caps are much in vogue for young girls. It takes the dainty coiffure of the maid to produce the proper effect when the caps are worn, and the bits of vanity are hardly suitable for women of years. All sorts of old lace are being utilized in the manufacture of the caps, the latter being especially desirable for theater wear. They are often finished with sprays of tiny pink rosebuds, and fit closely over the hair.

Blouses With Silk Suits.

Hand tucked tulle blouses are worn with silk suits. They are made quite simple, trimmed only with tulle or net jabots or pinnies.

FOR SPRING WEAR

The young woman who wants to get her spring sewing done ahead of time cannot do better than to copy this charming frock, just completed for a bride who will pass her honeymoon at Aiken. The material is white percale, a soft, lustrous weave of wool with mohair, though any light weight fabric will answer equally well. The scalloped pinnies and each are of gay pink silk in red, green and white and the scallops around the bottom of the skirt are particularly smart. Beneath these scallops the little white boots show plainly. These pretty boots are of white buckskin and have the new 16 button tops.

Smart Evening Gowns.

Lace and the most gorgeous of brocades threaded with gold and silver and worked in flowers of wool or silk, or both, make up the most handsome of evening gowns. But beaded net is also used, with a softening note of old lace on the shoulders.

PROTECTION FOR THE TOTS

Cheap and Efficient Screen That May Be Placed Around the Heating Stove.

So many little children who are just toddling about get burned by falling against the heating stove, that every stove where there are children about should have some sort of a screen made about it. For several years we used one made of common 26-inch field fence, made of No. 11 wire.

Simply cut enough of the wire to reach around the stove with about six inches of space between the screen and the stove.

Make a base of 2x4 lumber, as the wire alone is not heavy enough to stay in place. It should not be nailed to the floor, but so it can be raised up or sweeping, etc.

If a heavy zinc board is used under the stove the screen can be made to just fit on the outside of it and thus be more firmly fixed in place.

Philadelphia Scrapple.

Use two hogs' heads, hearts and tongues. Skin the heads, cut off jaws, split heads, removing eyes, ears, brain and tongue. Cleanse. Boil until meat drops from bones (tongues and hearts in separate kettle) and bony pieces. Cool and grind in meat chopper, saving liquor. Return meat to liquor, add water to make two gallons liquor, bringing to boil. Thicken with cornmeal, salt and pepper to taste, season with sweet marjoram, being careful not to use too much. Cook two hours. Pour into pans. Set in cool place. Slice and fry in drippings or butter, or serve cold with vinegar, as a relish.

Hint.—All meats should be "put on" in cold water. Let come just to boiling, then remove from water and wash. Kettle should be washed before replacing meat. Use boiling water the second filling. Season one hour before serving.

Steamed Beets.

Beets may be cooked in this way in about the same time that it takes to boil them, and this method is a happy compromise between baking and boiling them. To bake them is not a very economical method when the work must be done by gas, yet by this method they retain every bit of their sweetness and delicate flavor. It is best to use a little water in the pan when baking them, so they are thus partly steamed. Unless they are covered by another pan, in which case the steaming process is more complete, they will need to be turned frequently, but not with a fork, for this makes them bleed. A pancake turner is the best thing to use.

Pot Roast.

Take any kind of meat, put into an iron pot a tablespoonful of meat fryings or butter; let it brown; wash off the roast and put it into the pot. After it begins to fry pour in enough water to half cover the meat; season with pepper and salt, cover and stew slowly. As the meat begins to fry add more water; turn it often and cook about three hours. A half hour before serving add either Irish or sweet potatoes or turnips and let them brown with the meat.

Martha Washington Jumbles.

Stir to a cream one pound each of butter and sugar, and three well-beaten eggs, one pound flour, one wingless rose water and one teaspoon lemon extract. Roll out thin, cut with a ring cutter, then cover with granulated sugar and bake.

Butter Frosting.

Half pound powdered sugar, butter size of an egg. Put sugar and butter together, then beat the white of an egg stiff and add the sugar and butter; beat thoroughly. Flavor with vanilla. This will frost two cakes.

Dropped Eggs in Cream.

Put one-half cup of sweet cream in chafin dish; heat the cream and break six eggs in cream, one by one. Sprinkle each with salt and pepper. Cook slowly ten minutes and serve on toast.

SOMETHING for the LITTLE ONES

OPTICAL TOY QUITE AMUSING

Can Easily Be Made by Using Piece of Cardboard With Two Objects on Different Sides.

How many children know what a thaumatrope is? Very few, by that name. But most of them have seen thaumatropes. The dictionary says that a "thaumatrope is an optical toy depending for its action upon the persistence of an image on the retina of the eye. On opposite sides of a disk are depicted two objects or different parts of the same object, so that when the disk is rapidly twirled around a diameter the two sides appear to be seen at once and their images are combined."

The Juggler.

Thaumatropes are not hard to make. Just cut out these pictures, paste them on opposite sides of a cardboard and twirl it by means of the string as shown in the illustration, and you will see a thaumatrope.

Reverse Side of the Disk.

OPINIONS AS TO FRIENDSHIP

Healthy-Minded Girl Faces Facts Squarely and Looks for Reasons for Shattered Idol.

"Most of us start out in girlhood with rather definite opinions as to friendship," says Anne Bryan McCall in Woman's Home Companion. "A friend should be this or that. We have the matter all settled in our minds. And then, along comes some experience entirely outside our expectation. The friend to whom we have vowed undying devotion fails us in some essential and disappoints us deeply. The structure we thought secure for all time falls suddenly. Some of us may perhaps sit among the ruins, bewailing and embittered; but the healthy minded girl faces the fact squarely and looks about for reasons."

"One reason our friendships fail is that we think of them as complete and established things. Friendship is a thing never complete—it is always in the making. A vow of friendship, no matter how earnest, is at best, only a promise to pay; whereas many of us mistake it for a payment in itself. The day of these big qualities and requirements of every hour, unselfishness, fidelity—does it occur to you that any one of these can be established once and for all? Indeed, it cannot. Loyalty yesterday is not loyalty today, nor will an unselfish act of the day that is past serve to meet the obligation of usefulness of the day that is here. It is not a luxury, this, that can be bought and paid for and a receipt given."

CUSTOM OF SHAKING HANDS

Display of Friendly Feeling Originated When Men Were in Habit of Carrying Swords.

Did you ever ask yourself why you shake hands with persons whom you know? Here is the reason:

In the old days, when every man who had any pretensions to being a gentleman carried a sword, it was the custom for men when they met to show that they had no intention of treachery to offer each other their weapon hands—that is, the hand that would be used to draw the sword, and to withhold the hand was usually the signal for a fight.

So fixed did this habit become that long after men ceased to wear swords they still offered the weapon hand to a friend and declined to offer it to an enemy. To this day when you refuse to shake hands with a person it signifies that you are at war. Among savages, who never carried swords, the practice of shaking hands is unknown, and it affords them amusement to see the white men do it.

Origin of Words.

"How did there come to be so many words in the world?" asked Little Loh, who was turning the leaves of a dictionary.

"Oh," replied her eight-year-old brother, "they came through folks quarreling. One word brought on another, you know."

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."
